A firefighter puts out fires. She may also help to find out how they started. Sometimes fires start in buildings and forests. Firefighters often get to fires in fire trucks.

Sample taken from Paramedics

The paramedic uses a special bed to move people from one place to another.

It has legs that fold up. This helps it fit inside an ambulance or helicopter.

Festival of Colors

The day after the Holika bonfire, people celebrate Holi by throwing colored powder and water over each other. They use their hands, balloons and even water guns to cover people in color!

Holi is a time of festive fun, laughter and enjoyment. People play jokes on each other to celebrate the playful God Krishna. Legend has it that Krishna once played a trick on a group of milkmaids by covering them in colored water.

Early hot rods were usually Ford Model A or Model T roadsters because they were plentiful and cheap. These common cars had no roof and only one seat.

The hood, fenders, running boards, and windshield were all removed. Larger tires were installed on the back to raise the rear. Smaller tires on the front tilted the nose down. These changes helped increase speed and reduce wind resistance.

Making a Living

Today, many people make their livings restoring or creating custom cars. They use the latest tools and technology to create works of art. These specialty cars can cost tens of thousands of dollars. Some specialty car builders are so well known that they have their own TV shows.

Hot rodding began as a way to bring new life to old cars. It allowed young people to own cars without spending a lot of money.

What Is Buddhism?

Buddhism is both a religion and a way of living. It began in India about 2,500 years ago. People who practice Buddhism are called Buddhists.

Buddhists follow the teachings of the Buddha. Buddha was an Indian prince called Siddhartha Gautama. He lived in northern India about 2,500 years ago.

Word fact

The word Buddha is a special title that means the awakened one — that is, someone who is very wise.

The Tian Tan Buddha in Hong Kong, China, is one of the world's largest Buddha statues. People first started making statues and paintings of Buddha around 100 AD.

The Uniforms

The Warriors played these games in their "Chinese New Year" uniforms during the 2015-16 season.

From 1946 to 1962, the Philadelphia Warriors used blue, red, and gold as their colors. Both the white and blue uniforms read "Phi". When the team moved to California in 1962, the uniforms remained the same except for replacing "Phi" with "San Francisco" across the chest.

In 1964, the franchise adopted blue and gold as its colors. Until 1966, both the gold home and blue away uniforms read "Warriors." The team then used variations of "The City" design from 1966 to 1989. The most popular design of this era had "The City" above a logo of the Oakland Bay Bridge on both the home and away uniforms. The Warriors used navy blue, gold, and orange as its colors starting in 1997. That design existed until 2010, when the team returned to the Bay Bridge design of the late 1960s. The Warriors currently use this design.

During the 1970s, the Warriors opted for a more conventional NBA uniform design, with the team name written across the chest.
